Focus on Asia-LatAm Trade: Managing Risk & Resolving Disputes with Asian Parties

Trade and investment between Asia and Latin America has grown significantly over the last decade. Many Asian countries have firmly taken their place as key trading partners to a number of important Latin American economies. As transactions between Asian and Latin American parties continue to increase, it is essential to understand how to navigate the potential pitfalls whilst making the most of the opportunities when dealing with your Asian commercial partner.

The Hong Kong International Arbitration Centre (HKIAC) is bringing together experts in Asia related disputes to share their knowledge and practical experience on effectively managing potential conflicts in this developing commercial relationship.

Topics include:

- Negotiating with your Asian Counterparty: Finding the Right Dispute Resolution Option
- Maximising Chances of Recovery: Enforcing Arbitral Awards in Asia
- The Chilean Perspective on Doing Business in Asia
- New Choices for Dispute Resolution in a Changing Global Market: An Introduction to Hong Kong Arbitration and the HKIAC
